WITH

Electrical Apprenticeship

If you like being hands on, and you'd like to be part of Queensland's energy future, find out if an Electrical Apprenticeship with Powerlink is the spark you're looking for to switch on your career.

WHAT DOES AN ELECTRICIAN DO?

Electricians have the knowledge to select, install, set up, test, fault find, repair and maintain electrical systems and equipment in buildings and premises. Where this type of work is carried out, you need to have an electrical licence.

This trade is not to be confused with the electricians who work in your house. Electricians at Powerlink are specialised professionals who work on the State-wide transmission network in Queensland.

THE APPRENTICESHIP

- Four year apprenticeship
- Complete a nationally recognised qualification Certificate III Electrotechnology Electrician
- First aid certificate and Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) certificate
- High risk work licences (including elevated work platform, rigging and dogging, and forklift)
- Heavy rigid truck licence

WHAT POWERLINK PROVIDES YOU

- All college fees are covered by us
- Your own toolkit (worth over $3000)
- Your uniform and Personal Protective Equipment (PPE)
- Work life balance with nine-day fortnight roster
- Attractive salary with yearly increases (you get paid while you learn!)
- Learn from industry leading mentors
- Option for further study to complete either an Advance Diploma or Associate Degree in Electrical Engineering

WHAT YOU'LL NEED

- Completed Year 12 (or in the process of doing so) with passes in English and Maths– unless you are a mature aged candidate
- Certificate II in Electrotechnology is desirable
- Hold a current Queensland driver licence (manual required or be willing to obtain)
- Have your own means of transportation
- Have a genuine interest in how electricity works
- You like being hands on
- Willing to live and breathe safety
- Strong work ethic
- Team player with good communication skills
